WHAT LAW WILL REALLY DO FOR ANY COMMUNITY

RULE BY COMMISSION EXPLAINED FOR BENEFIT OF READERS.

BRIEF SUMMARY IS GIVEN

Janesville People Interested in Just What Law Could Accomplish for City.

Janesville taxpayers and politicians are interested in the talk that has been going on relative to the success of "rule by commission." The latter received from many of the different cities where it has been tried, and where it is proving successful, have been read with interest and commented on. At this time it might be well to give a brief summary of the plan, its history and other facts relative to its success.

The Plan
The term "commission government," as applied to city administration, is somewhat confusing. In Wisconsin where commissions are such important branches of state administration, but it has become so commonly used to describe that form of municipal administration adopted by Galveston, Houston, and Des Moines, that it does not now easily permit of change. It originated in Galveston because at first a majority of the members of the city commission were "commissioned" by the governor of the state. "Government by selection" would describe that form of city government more accurately.

The Features
The characteristic features of the commission form of city government are:

- (1) a reduction in the number of elective officers;
- (2) the concentration of power in the hands of a small board;
- (3) a fixed and definite responsibility for administrative acts;
- (4) the abolition of wards, making the entire city a unit for government purposes.

The entire affairs of the city are administered by a board of usually three or five members elected by the city at large and responsible for its administration. All other city officers and employees are elected or appointed by this board. The functions of city government are divided into a number of departments, usually five, and a member of the board made manager or superintendent of each department. While the board as a whole is held responsible to the city at large, the board holds each member responsible for the management of the affairs of his particular department. The plan was devised and intended to secure the efficient management so characteristic of great business enterprises, based on the analogy of municipal or business corporations.

Historical Sketch
This form of city government was first adopted in Galveston in 1901 after the great disaster of 1900, in which a large part of its population and property were destroyed. It was followed in 1905 by Houston, which adopted the plan with various modifications. In 1907, seven other Texas cities, Fort Worth, Dallas, Greenville, Denison, El Paso, Sherman and Beaumont, all secured charters embodying the same features. These were all special charters. The same year Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, North Dakota, and in 1908 Mississippi passed general laws providing for the organization of city governments on the commission plan. During the present year Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois have passed similar laws. The plan may, of course, be adopted by any city in the so-called "home rule" states, namely, Oregon, California, Oklahoma and Colorado.

Commissioned Governed Cities
Up to the present time the following cities in addition to those of Texas have adopted the commission plan: Des Moines and Cedar Rapids (Iowa); Boise City and Lewiston (Idaho); Leavenworth (Kansas); Mandan, Bismarck, and Minot (North Dakota); Sioux Falls (South Dakota); Haverhill, Gloucester and Chelsea (Massachusetts); Berkeley and San Diego (California); Memphis (Tennessee); Colorado Springs (Colorado); Ardmore (Oklahoma).

The plan is also being studied and investigated in a large number of cities, among which are Jacksonville (Florida); Atlanta (Georgia); Salt Lake City (Utah); Charlotte (North Carolina); Peoria, Rockford and other cities in Illinois, as well as a large number of cities in other states.

The Arguments for commission government for cities that may be given one.

- (1) This form of government recognizes the fact that the city is an administrative unit.
- (2) It centralizes authority, thereby fixing responsibility.
- (3) It holds the interest and the attention of the citizens, and induces good men to enter the city government.
- (4) Experience has demonstrated the possible success in securing efficient and economical municipal administration.

She appeared before the state legislature and secured an appropriation of $12,000 for this purpose. In 1865 Mrs. Olin raised money which was used to establish a permanent home for disabled soldiers.

Rev. Charles Briggs of New York Charged With Licentious Practices Accused of Heresy.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Johnstown, N. Y., Oct. 10.—One of the sharpest theological controversies since the trial of the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs, of Union Seminary, on charges of heresy will come to a head at the annual meeting of the New York Theological Synod, which convened here today for a three days' session. The synod will be called upon to consider the protest made by certain ministers of the New York Synod against the latter's action in allowing the Rev. Archibald A. Black to become a minister. Mr. Black was one of three candidates for the pulpit, who upon examination refused to subscribe to certain orthodox views expressed on cardinal Scriptural doctrines, such as the story of the Garden of Eden, the immaculate conception and the miracles. The outcome of the protest, should it be upheld by the synod, may lead to a decision prohibiting the Presbytery from licensing any more graduates from Union Theological Seminary, from which Mr. Black and the other candidates accused of heresy, came up for examination.

The plan for the erection of the monument did not meet with the approval of the citizens, a majority of whom are still Frenchmen at heart. The delegation of Alsace-Lorraine refused to appropriate funds for the monument, and when the provincial governor, Prince Hohenzollern-Laghenau, on his own responsibility appropriated 200,000 francs from the emergency fund, it caused so much indignation that the contribution was withdrawn. The amount, however, was soon made up by contributions from military and patriotic organizations in all parts of Germany, who wished thus to protest against the hostile attitude of the former French province.

GOVERNMENT MAKES TRANSFER OF WORK

Preparations Completed for Sending Forestry Products to University of Wisconsin.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Preparations have been completed for the transfer of all the government's forest products work to Madison, Wis., where the U. S. Forest Service Products laboratory will be located, and to Chicago, where the headquarters of the office of wood utilization will be established.

The new Forest Products laboratory being erected at Madison by the University of Wisconsin, which will cooperate with the government in its forest products work and which is to cost approximately $50,000, is now in the course of construction. The laboratory will be a fire-proof building of brick trimmed in white stone and is located near the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad with exclusive tracks and other railroad facilities. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy upon January 1. In the meanwhile temporary offices will be located at 1610 Adams street, Madison.

On October 1 the Yale Timber Testing laboratory was discontinued and the forest service equipment there shipped to Madison. The laboratory here at Washington was discontinued at the same time. The Timber Testing laboratory at Purdue, Indiana, will be operated until the middle of December when it will be discontinued and its equipment shipped to Madison. The offices having general supervision over all the work of the branch of products will remain temporarily at Washington. W. L. Hall, assistant forester, continues in charge of Branch of Products and McGraw Cline will be director of the Madison laboratory. The work of the laboratory will be assigned to five offices, as follows:

Wood Preservation, which will study all problems related to the impregnation of wood with preservatives and other substances.

Wood Chemistry, which will handle all work bearing on the chemical utilization of forest products. Wood distillation, paper pulp and other forest products, chemical analyses of creosotes, turpentine, etc., are the principal lines handled by this office.

Timber Tests, which will have charge of all tests to determine the strength and other mechanical properties of different woods.

Technology, which will study the microscopic structure of woods, methods of seasoning and drying it, and other problems of a purely technical character.

Maintenance, which will have charge of the filing and computing. It will also be responsible for the purchase of supplies and general care of the entire laboratory.

The class of work in the laboratory may be separated into three kinds, as follows:

1. The investigation of problems in experimental research.
2. Experimental work in cooperation with commercial plants to verify laboratory experiments on a commercial scale.
3. Cooperation with outside parties for the purpose of assisting them in applying principles and processes of recognized commercial value with which the service is thoroughly familiar.

THE SIMPLE LIFE FOR TAFT AGAIN

PRESIDENT TO REST UP FOR FEW DAYS ON BROTHER'S RANCH.

CHARLES TAFT IS LAVISH

In Preparations For Entertainment Of President, Even Having Golf Links Laid Out.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Gregory, Tex., Oct. 10.—This is President Taft's first day of rest and enjoyment on his brother's 125,000-acre ranch. After the strenuous days of his long tour the President for the first time has an opportunity to lay aside all cares and seek rest or exercise, serious occupation or amusement, according to his taste and whim, not in strict accordance with time-tables and iron-clad program. He has a magnificent palace with every imaginable convenience to live in, a ranch, as large as some counties in the East to roam over at will, either on horseback or in an automobile. A fine steam-yacht is ready for his pleasure, should he feel like going fishing or taking a sail along the picturesque coast. He has only to step out of the front door and walk a few steps to the finest golf links in Texas, laid out especially for his use by two Texas golf experts, should he wish to indulge in his favorite exercise. It is true, there are no "possums to hunt, but, should the President have an inclination for more strenuous pastime, there are no lions or elephants, but crocodiles, coyotes, deer and wild cats. Wildcat shooting is one of the favorite pastimes of the sportsmen in this part of the country and a hunt of that kind has been arranged for tonight. A pack of "cal-dogs" was obtained for the purpose and if the President is not too tired tonight, he may enjoy fine sport and a novel experience.

The ranch, which forms part of the 200,000 estate which David Sinton, Charles P. Taft's father-in-law, purchased many years ago, when Texas ranch land was worth about $2.00 an acre, is located in San Patricio county, near the town of Corpus Christi and San Patricio. The ranch, which includes the towns of Sinton, Taft, Gregory and Portland, occupies the greater part of the county and is one of the finest properties in Texas. It is well stocked and cultivated and brings Mr. Charles P. Taft a round million dollars a year. When it was decided a few months ago that the President would spend four days of rest upon his brother's farm, Mr. Charles P. Taft began to make extensive preparations for the occasion. The old ranch house, known by the Spanish name of "La Quinta," was torn down and in its place a magnificent palace was built, equipped with everything that the most fastidious taste may desire in a modern abode. It has 35 rooms and crowns a 100 foot cliff, beneath which the surf breaks with an eternal roar. For the accommodation of the President's traveling party another building, resembling a seashore hotel with wide verandahs, was built a short distance from "La Quinta."

Some distance in the rear a garage was built, large enough to shelter half a dozen automobiles and it was stocked with four brand new machines. To supply the house with sea water for bathing purposes, a pumping station was erected and also an electric power plant for illuminating the buildings. In the bay a long pier was constructed to provide a mooring place for the steam yacht added to the equipment of the ranch. The final touch to the preparations was given by the laying out of a golf course of nine holes. The superintendent in charge of the ranch and its different departments know of golf only from hearsay and when they received orders from the President's brother to provide for suitable golf links, they were stumped. But the order had to be obeyed and, as expense was not to be considered, they engaged two of the finest golf experts in Texas to come to the Taft ranch and lay out the course in accordance with the traditions of the game. It is a conservative estimate that the improvements made on the ranch in anticipation of the President's visit cost his brother not less than $500,000, quite a nice little fortune, but not exorbitant the annual profits derived from the ranch.

THREATS MADE TO KILL WAYMAN

THREAT MADE AGAINST LIFE OF CHICAGO STATE'S ATTORNEY.

INFORMER TRIES SUICIDE

Man Who Dared Secrets of Jury Plot—Is Saved by Prosecutor's Assistant—Investigation of Frauds Is Not Deterred.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Nicholas J. Martin, private secretary of Alderman Michael McKenna, and under indictment with John J. Holland, secretary of the Cook county jury commission, and Willis J. Rayburn, a real estate dealer, charged with conspiracy to fix juries, attempted to kill himself by jumping into Lake Michigan at Van Buren street.

Threatened with death at the hands of First ward political leaders whose secrets he has disclosed in two confessions to State's Attorney Wayman, and believing that he had incurred for life the enmity of his employer and others by laying bare secrets of the jury-fixing ring, Martin attempted to end his existence. It was the hand of John Weeber, an investigator, which checked him when he was about to make a dive into the lake.

After the attempted suicide Martin went back to his haunts. On promise to repudiate his confession unless an immunity pledge could be secured for some of his political associates both in the jury-tampering and in the graft investigations, in addition to the one offered to him for turning state's evidence, he was taken back into the fold with substantial financial support for his defense. A complete report of the doings of Martin since the time of the attempted suicide is in the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Nicholas Michels.

Threats to Murder Wayman.

Threats to murder State's Attorney Wayman and his principal assistants in an effort to terrorize them into ceasing their efforts to send guilty men to the penitentiary were also disclosed. But this has only resulted in spurring him on to greater activity and wider endeavors. It is true that he has taken precaution by having Detectives Loula and Keely and his assistant, Thomas Marshall, accompany him on most of his trips, but beyond that he is paying no heed to the attitude of the dangerous men whose criminal practices he has set out to destroy.

MANY MASONS IN CONGRESS.

Allocation by Grand Commander of Scottish Rite Masonry.

Washington, Oct. 10.—At the opening session of the biennial meeting of the supreme council of the Scottish Rite Free Masonry for the southern jurisdiction of the United States, Grand Commander James D. Richardson delivered his allocation which contained a long and detailed review of the history of the order during the last two years.

"It is worthy of comment," said Mr. Richardson, "that there are more members of our bodies filling seats in the senate and house of representatives in Washington at this time than there were members of the rite in several states for our jurisdiction, which I could name, 25 years ago."

"These facts are not referred to by me as evidence of the popularity of the order, or as praise in the nature of self-adulation or glorification, but to show that there is a profundity of meaning in its philosophy and dogma which engrosses the serious attention of men of ability, learning and culture, and further, to show evidence of the fact that as the rite grows, wisdom, multiplies and enlarges its scope and influence, there will not be wanting strong-minded and strong-hearted members to properly utilize its potentialities and judiciously govern its councils."

Good Gunners at Sea.

If our navy's gunners can shoot little targets so full of holes nobody is able to see the exact score they can shoot up an enemy's big battleships so thoroughly that nobody can tell or many care to know which guns won the victory. The target practice off the Virginia capes should make every American proud of our ships and of the men in them.

A BANKER'S NERVE Broken by Coffee and Restored by Postum.

A banker needs perfect control of the nerves and a clear, quick, accurate brain. A prominent banker of Chattanooga tells how he keeps himself in condition:

"Up to 17 years of age I was not allowed to drink coffee, but as soon as I got out into the world I began to use it and grew very fond of it. For some years I noticed no bad effects from its use, but in time it began to affect me unfavorably. My hands trembled, the muscles of my face twitched, my mental processes seemed slow and in other ways my system got out of order. These conditions grew so bad at last that I had to give up coffee altogether. "My attention having been drawn to Postum, I began its use on leaving off the coffee, and it gave me pleasure to testify to its value. I find it a delicious beverage; like it just as well as I did coffee, and during the years that I have used Postum I have been free from the distressing symptoms that accompanied the use of coffee. The nervousness has entirely disappeared, and I am as steady of hand as a boy of 25, though I am more than 52 years old. I owe all this to Postum." There's a Reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pages. Grocers sell. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS ARE HONORED BY PITTSBURGH

Magnificent Parade is Participated in by Baseball "Fans" of Every Description.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 10.—Pittsburgh was baseball mad last night, the time officially set for the great celebration in honor of the Pittsburgh baseball club, winners of the world's championship.

The various divisions of the great parade began to gather early. Such a parade was never seen in Pittsburgh before, and perhaps not in any other city of the country. Led by Mayor Magee and the members of his cabinet and all the members of the Pittsburgh baseball club, the Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, formed the vanguard of the most unique assemblage that ever traversed the streets of this city. Practically every political club of Allegheny county was in line as were also about 100 athletic organizations, the members marching in uniform. Each section of the city constituted a division of the parade, while the business men and various trades unions marched in another class. Every "rooter" in this section of the country had been publicly invited to participate in the celebration, the newspapers of the city furnishing bands and attending to the formation of the baseball enthusiasts.

Porter field was taxed to its capacity, the great amphitheater being unable to seat the multitude which covered the playing field. Mayor McGee presented each player with a check for his share of the receipts of the world's series, and pandemonium reigned at the park as each man stepped to the platform to receive the award. Charles (Flabe) Adams, the pitcher who led his teammates to victory three times during the great series, was the recipient of a great ovation and beside the check as his share of the receipts, was given a purse of over $1,000 as a testimonial of his great work.

WAR VETERANS DYING FAST.

48,312 Names Dropped from Pension Rolls Last Year.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Death's invasion of the fast thinning ranks of war veterans caused 48,312 names to be dropped from the pension rolls of the United States last year. Of this number 32,831 were survivors of the civil war. The total loss to the pension roll from all causes was 51,581.

In striking contrast to these figures, comprised in the annual report of Vespasian Warner, commissioner of pensions, is the statement that the government paid out in pensions in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, $161,973,702, which the commissioner declares is the largest amount ever disbursed for pensions in one year. Commissioner Warner explains that the increase in the amount paid out for pensions was due principally to the large number of pensioners placed on the roll under the act of February 6, 1907, granting $12, $16 and $20 to survivors of the war with Mexico and the civil war on reaching the ages of 62, 70 and 75 respectively.

'FRISCO HONORS DE PORTOLA.

Festival in Celebrating Discovery of Golden Gate Begins.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—One hundred and forty years ago today a Spanish explorer named Gaspar de Portola sailed into the Golden Gate, and this discovery of the magnificent San Francisco bay is being celebrated this week by what is known as the Portola festival. Incidentally, San Francisco is entertaining guests from all over the world in order to exhibit to them the wonderful way in which it has recovered from the terrible earthquake and fire of 1906. Warships from many foreign countries are here to take part in the fest.

A novel feature of the formal opening of the festival was the drinking of a toast to the continued prosperity of the city exactly at noon by the school children of nearly every city and town in the United States. The signal for this, as well as for the opening, was given by President Taft by wire. The celebration will continue until October 23.

Sawmill Plant Wrecked—Three Employees Injured.

Eldorado, Ark., Oct. 10.—Seven employees were killed and three other persons were injured, two fatally, when a boiler at the plant of the Griffin Saw Mill Company, near Eldorado, exploded. The steam register, it is declared, failed to indicate the over-pressure, the explosion, which could be heard for several miles, following, wrecking a large section of the plant. Mrs. J. Reed, wife of the superintendent of the mill, was in her home, some distance from the mill, when the explosion occurred, a brick penetrating the wall, injuring her severely.

Banker Goes to Prison.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 10.—Eugene R. Whitbank, the former bookkeeper and teller of the Second national bank of Atlantic City, who last week pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling $7,000, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Demands State's Money.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—State Treasurer A. H. Dahl made formal demand on the First National bank of Mineral Point for the money which the state had in that institution, amounting to something over $9,000.

Modern advertising is generally considered to be a creative factor in the development of new trade but volumes could be written on its efficiency in the distribution of waste in regaining an old business.

Woman's Grewsome "Joke."

Man may be a brute, but when it comes to subtle, cunning and fiendish cruelty woman takes the palm. Only a woman could have conceived of the "joke" of sending one undertaker after the other to a house where no one had died and where there had not even been a case of sickness for a long time. In every case the undertakers had been called up by a woman, who informed them that somebody had died at a certain address in the Bronx and requested them to call there with their gruesome paraphernalia as soon as possible. A perfect procession of undertakers was thus kept going to that house until the owner, driven frantic, appealed to the police for protection.

Cause for Astonishment.

A story in an October magazine reaches its climax with this passage: "With the kiss came incomprehensible splendor. His harshness slipped away; and all his uncouthness, his vulgarity, his egotism, his impatience, his irrational precocity, his diadema. He kissed her, and he knew he loved her. And the spell of her love brought to him an abiding patience, a sense of calmness, maturity and frank humility. He was strong with a different strength, a strength that took its strength from eternity. He closed his eyes a moment and murmured: 'My God! All on the same day!'" And well he might exclaim. It was enough to astonish any man.

UNCLE SAM AS A ROAD BUILDER
"Experts of many countries are marveling at the great roads which the United States government has constructed and is now constructing on the reclamation projects in the far western states and territories. More than 600 miles of the most excellent highways that it is possible for man to produce have been completed and are in daily use. Those, of course, do not include the by-roads leading to many farms or the many other roads being used for the time being until the macadamized kind can be built."

"The dry farmers have had good horses and vehicles since the reclamation work began seven years ago, and these good roads are enabling them to haul their products to the towns and railroad stations—and to send their children to school. They regard them as the most important of all aids to progress and prosperity. Many of these pioneers own automobiles, and it is no unusual sight to see, on Saturdays or Sundays, a dozen or more motor cars of the latest designs in any of the towns of the older projects. It is interesting to note that Uncle Sam has only fairly begun the building of roads in this newly developed country, and that in a very few years the mileage will be reckoned in thousands where it is now counted in hundreds."

—From Van Norden Magazine.

So much attention is given, just now, to the conservation of natural resources, that the question of good roads is in large measure forgotten, and this question ranks in importance either the waterways or forests, for good roads, while directly benefiting the farmer, indirectly benefits all classes of citizens.

If Janesville had a network of good roads stretching out for ten miles in all directions the value of farm lands would increase $25 per acre, and the county seat city would become the central market for the entire territory.

Work in this direction would mean practical progress, for it could be accomplished in five years and good results would speedily follow.

"ADVERTISE THE CITY"
Houston seems to be the only city in the country that advertises the honesty of its government as an inducement for capital. It has sent broadcast this paragraph: "Our city hall is a business house. She has no wards, no ward politicians, no graft. Her city officials are public work experts, growing in the service, and kept there as long as they make good—no longer." The man of experience who is looking for a place for investments or for a home knows that municipal politics has no important bearing upon his pocket, and the wage earner knows that graft spoils dollars and cents to him and his family.

The city of Houston is governed by commission, and after four years' experience results are so satisfactory that the people are happy. They have something to advertise.

THE WATERWAYS CONVENTION
Delegates to the waterways convention, now in session in the city, are representative men thoroughly in earnest in the work in which they are engaged. Mr. Meese of the investigating committee spent the summer between Sterling and the head waters of the river, going over the territory several times, and carefully studying conditions.

He is enthusiastic in the belief that within five years the stream can be made navigable for boats with light draft as far north as Janesville, and claims that this river competition on freight would result in a great saving to the people.

The project seems feasible, and with government aid could be carried out with but little private expense. It is entitled to encouragement.

The city of Superior is discussing the adoption of the commission form of government, and a committee of investigation will meet tonight to discuss the question and outline a plan of work. The articles which have been running through the Gazette for the past week are attracting attention throughout the state and a number of cities are waiting up to the importance of better municipal government.

Janesville voters will soon be given an opportunity to sign a petition asking for the commission form of government. The law provides that if 25 per cent of the voters at the last city election sign the petition, that the question will then be submitted to the people at a special election. This means that the petition will need the signature of 550 voters.

The city is honored today with guests from several Rock river cities, and the improvement association which they represent is of local interest. If the river ever becomes navigable it will be because of united effort on the part of all the cities interested.

Conservative democracy will attempt to concentrate its forces on Governor Folk of Missouri, and Bryan will be invited to join the procession. The death of Governor Johnson of Minnesota was a demoralizing loss to the old wing of the party.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

FLASTER OR STONE?
Over the portal of a stately building in London are engraved in stone the well known words of Scripture: "It is that hath pity upon the poor lendeth to the Lord."

And upon the door just beneath this portal has been posted a placard, on which is printed this: "WARNING.—Beggars will be prosecuted. Keep off!"

Rather contradictory, is it not?

Which is the truer picture of our civilization—the words of Scripture in the stone or the warning to beggars beneath?

Well, you say, is not this the age of hospitals and homes for the friendless, and asylums of every kind, and institutions for the discovery and cure of disease?

Yes, surely.

And would you encourage the idle shiftlessness to be more shiftless by means of misplaced charity?

No.

But somehow the picture reminds us of a story.

A certain king who did not amount to much ordered his architect, who was really a great man, to build a beautiful edifice which should be a memorial of the monarch.

No name save that of the king must appear.

The architect built the building, indeed, and over its portals graven the name of the king in plaster.

The wind and the rain beat upon the house. Little by little the plaster name disappeared, and years after below the plaster and in the solid stone appeared the name "Sesostros."

That which deserved to live lived. And so of the things of our day.

If we talk Scripture and make and demolish beggars the Scripture will live, but the process by which we make beggars and the beggars must disappear.

If we put the names of the real architects of our civilization under the names of the kings of finance the names of the financial kings will disappear and the economic system by which we make such kings.

Which is it, this civilization of ours? The king's name or that of Sesostros, a spelling of Scripture or the warning to the beggars?

friends, precautions taken! Cut out the jam and cake, throw the dog, some brand away! Come with me, and live on hay!" As for me, I'd rather eat angel cake and butter's meat. Is the lecture stale and sour? Is the speaker bald and dour? Some one's sure to grab your arm: "Do not miss this, for a farm! Round your heart his logic curl! Come, forsake the chorus girls! Let the blisser minstrelsy slide! Here's the hall—come on inside!" As for me, I'd rather see Uncle Tom and old Legree!

The Milwaukee Free Press suggests that if Commander Peary is going after the south pole, as reported, careful arrangements must be made to have his ticket punched when he gets there.

Cheap at That!
The Rockford Register-Gazette remarks that Jimmy Eckels, owner of the Rockford stock exchange, held 450,000 shares of mining stock as collateral security. He is now offering to sell the security at "$1 a pound."

Beloit Daily News. Cook says he has organized an expedition to go to the top of Mt. McKinley and find the records he left there. We can't see the use of it, for half the people of the world would say on its return that he had "come in his pocket" all the time and would refuse to believe those who went with him.

Where They All Yawn.
The Cleveland Plain Dealer says that Boston has a man who cannot yawn without dislocating his jaw. He should be thankful he doesn't live in Philadelphia.

Other People Do.
Eau Claire Leader: The residents of Wisconsin have never fully realized just how good and great a state this really is.

The Wausau Record-Herald comments: It is a matter for rejoicing to remember that we have been told that Indian summer has not come yet, and that warmer weather is yet in store for us this fall.

We'll Watch Him.
In the Green Bay Gazette appears the following: It is said that Hutton is again taking great interest in La Follette politics, although he is not looking for office for himself. The "Watch Hutton" slogan will again be in order.

Just Think of It.
The editor of the Neenah Times says that fifty years ago today quills were so numerous in the Third ward of Milwaukee that the boys killed them with stones and missiles, and quill on toast was as common as sorrel in the civil war.

Right You Are.
The Marinette Eagle-Star realizes that nothing begets hard times so quickly as to eternally talk hard times. The fellow who complains that business is dull would have less cause for complaint if he would advertise and hustle for business.

A Busy Place.
The Oshkosh North-Western believes that Chicago holds another unfortunate record. During the past three months an average of eleven persons have been injured daily and one person killed every other day by the street cars. In that city. This makes the casualties on the big steam railroad systems of the country take on a rather insignificant aspect.

WAS MARSHALIN FEAR OF CROWD OF DEPOSITORS?

VICE PRESIDENT OF MINERAL POINT BANK SPIRITED AWAY.

WENT BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Arrangements Had Previously Been Made to Take Him Through Janesville on Morning Train.

Was Deputy United States Marshal Kelly afraid to risk a demonstration at the Mineral Point depot this morning when he should attempt to bring Vice President Phil Allen, Jr., to Madison to answer the charge of embezzling the bank's funds?

Indications point to this being the reason that the deputy marshal and his prisoner were spirited out of Mineral Point in an automobile and other drove to Dodgeville and took a Northwestern train to Madison on way to the Capital City by auto.

Mr. Kelly came to Janesville last evening to arrange to have his prisoner, Mr. Allen, brought here before Federal Court Commissioner Stanley Tallman. Unfortunately Mr. Tallman's stamp and seal have not arrived from Washington and he could not act.

Mr. Kelly intended to bring Mr. Allen through Janesville this morning on the train leaving there at 7:15 in charge of Conductor Tom Leahy. In fact, he made arrangements with Mr. Leahy to hold the train in Mineral Point a few minutes should he be late.

Mr. Kelly then went to Mr. Allen's home and remained there until two o'clock this morning. It is rumored about Mineral Point and men who were on the train this morning that Mr. Kelly decided the people of the city where the banker pirated and has ruined hundreds were not most kindly and changed his plans, fearing a demonstration.

This morning he informed Mr. Leahy not to wait for him if he was late and the train pulled out on time. After it had been learned that Kelly had planned to take his prisoner overland by automobile. Evidently Mr. Allen is not as sick as has been pictured and many say that his illness has all been shamming.

It is said that he has refused to look anyone in the face since his disgrace came out and lies with his face to the wall all the time. The deeper the investigation goes the madder the depositors have become and as one man expressed it this morning: "I am from Mineral Point and had money in that bank. I am a law-abiding citizen, but I would like to get a chance at that Phil Allen."

It has been seen that several in the crowd waiting to see the prisoner have been reported missing, one for $3,500 having been traced directly back to Allen. This makes the case even more complicated than ever and the bank examiner bent on to understand where it will all end.

The suicide of Cashier Griscom has also caused new complications, as Griscom knew the workings of the bank and would have been invaluable to the receiver in untangling the tangle. Mr. Griscom's two daughters live in Milwaukee and were called home yesterday. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. Gray, one of the bank directors who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. A. V. Scheller of this city.

A FORMER RESIDENT SEEKS OFFICE AGAIN

William C. Crotius, Who Lived Here for Some Years, Was Mayor of Joliet and Now Lives in Gary, Ind.

William C. Crotius, once a resident of Janesville, twice Mayor of Joliet, Illinois, with gubernatorial aspirations, has been nominated for Mayor of Gary, Indiana, at their primaries held yesterday. This was on the democratic ticket, and according to dispatches the enthusiasm of the voters almost reached a riot.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Auto Party: A broadhead automobile party consisting of Miss Grace Wilkinson, Miss Mildred Kouty, R. P. Karney and R. Skinner was registered at the Grand hotel yesterday.

Two Sentenced: In municipal court this morning, Floyd Carroll pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was given the choice between five days in jail or a fine amounting to $10. The fine was paid. William Simons, who appears to be a bit deranged, was given five days straight.

Pirates Clashed Up: The "Pirates" Senior Kickball team, captained by Edward Little, were rather roughly handled by Kohler's "Cubs" last evening, who defeated them by the score of 12 to 6. Spectacular plays were numerous throughout the game and one of the features was the "home run" by Captain Little.

Broken Trolley Wire: Five street cars, practically all of Janesville's rolling stock, were bunched together between S. The break was patched up after about an hour's work.

Heartless Landlord. "I used to walk the floor worrying about how I was going to pay my landlord," said Mr. Tulluck. "I hope you have quit all that," replied the landlord. "I had to. The landlord said that if I didn't stop worrying out the floor he'd raise the rent."

Team of Horses and Surrey Stolen From Farmers and Traced Several Miles.

Whitewater police officials and the vigilance committee of that city are making a determined effort to apprehend the horse thieves who last night stole a team of horses and a surrey from two farmers living near Whitewater. This morning Chief of Police Gill arrived in an automobile and furnished a description of the missing team together with the information that a reward of $100 has been offered for the return of the horses and an additional $100 for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

Later in the morning a representative of the vigilance committee arrived for the purpose of distributing a reward with a description of the stolen team and to assure the Janesville chief that any expense incurred in recovering the animals would be paid by Eugene Cornell, president of the Whitewater Vigilance society.

The horses were stolen from a farmer named John Ridge and the surrey from James Fuller. The horses are bay geldings, seven and eight years old, each weighing about 1200 pounds. The lighter colored animal has a white star on his forehead and white hind foot. His mate has a white cut or scar on the right fore ankle and has a dark mark on the same hoof.

The robbers took the team some time last night and after tying them in a corral, forced the surrey, hitching the team to the rig in the field. They were traced two and a half miles west of Whitewater, but beyond that no clue has been discovered. It is believed that the thieves went north or west but it was also thought wise to notify the police at this point.

OFFERS REWARD FOR ARREST OF HOODLUM

P. Hohenadel Jr. Feels Loss of Keenly—sakes Destroyed Very Quickly—Police Have Good Clue

Determined that the vandal who wrecked his office equipment and destroyed highly prized personal effects last Sunday shall be brought to justice, Peter Hohenadel, Jr., this morning offered a reward of $200 for the arrest and conviction of the offender. To make it as hard as possible for the guilty one to escape, Mr. Hohenadel has had postal cards printed describing the deed which will be mailed to neighboring cities and has also ordered designers printed setting forth the facts and offering the reward.

Although the damage done to the typewriters and computing machine amounts to hundreds of dollars, it is not the fact that he has suffered a monetary loss that has fixed Mr. Hohenadel's determination to locate the stone turned until the criminal is convicted. Some cherished personal articles, such as old photographs, of no great value to others but highly treasured by the owner, were wantonly destroyed and can never be replaced. The police have no failing in regard to the identity of the culprit and are working on the case, but as yet have made no arrests.

Resourceful. In a certain church in Ireland a young priest took for his text: "The Feeding of the Multitude." And he said: "And they fed ten people with 10,000 loaves and 10,000 fishes." There, an old Irishman said: "That's no miracle, begorra, I could do that myself," which the priest overheard. The next Sunday the priest announced the same text, but he had it right this time. "And they fed 10,000 people on ten loaves of bread and ten fishes." He waited a second, and then leaned over the pulpit and said: "And could you do that, Mr. Murphy?" Murphy replied: "Sure, your reverence, I could." "And how could you do it?" said the priest. "Sure, your reverence, I could do it with what was left over from last Sunday."—The Argonaut.

Japanese for Meat Diet. Meat has been officially introduced as a part of the Japanese army diet, and as a result, the Japanese board of agriculture has sent a commission abroad to investigate and take steps for introducing the breeding of cattle in Japan. One reason for the change of diet is to avert a repetition of the scourge of beriberi which sapped the strength of the army during the Russian war, and was said to have been due to the rice diet, and another purpose is to add to the stature of the race by a general introduction of meat eating. Here in the accident, there is an increasing conviction that the meat diet has its penalties as well as its benefits.

ALLEGED ROBBERY CASE BROUGHT UP

Youth Accuses Companion of Knocking Him Down and Robbing Him.

Alleging that while they were passing the Riverside hotel on South River street last night about eleven o'clock, Bert Wheelock knocked him down and robbed him, Arthur Culver, aged nineteen, this morning appeared before Judge Elford and swore out a warrant for Wheelock's arrest, charging robbery by violence.

According to Culver's story, the two had just parted for the night when he was knocked unconscious and did not come to until three o'clock this morning. When he regained his senses, he found that his trousers and coat pockets had been slashed and what money he possessed was gone. He admitted that he had been drinking but denied that he was drunk, although he stated that his companion was intoxicated.

Wheelock, who is employed by Plowright & Menzies, was arrested this afternoon, appeared in court at half past two and entered a plea of not guilty. He admitted being with Culver last night but stated that at about ten o'clock the plaintiff was so drunk that Officer Moriarty had threatened to arrest him unless he went home immediately. He denied the charge completely and stated that after leaving Culver at eleven o'clock he went home.

In proof of his assertions, Culver produced the suit of clothes bearing the knife slashes and also showed a bruise on the side of his face which he claimed was done by Wheelock. He also claims that the defendant boasted to one of his fellow workers this morning that he had "done a fellow up" last night.

As far as can be ascertained, there were no witnesses to the assault, and unless Culver can produce more conclusive evidence beyond that of his own statements, he may well appear rather visionary. In order to allow the principals to retain counsel, the case was continued until Monday, Oct. 23, at 10:00 a. m. Wheelock was given his liberty in the custody of the arresting officer until that time.

WORKING FOR THE MORAL UPLIFT

NATIONAL PURITY CONGRESS IN SESSION AT BURLINGTON.

B. S. STEADWELL IN CHAIR

White Slave Traffic the Topic of Discussion on the First Day—Eminent Social Workers Have Places or Program.

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 19.—The National Purity Congress was opened here this afternoon under the auspices of the National Purity federation, and not for a long time has the country seen so important a gathering of reformers, religious and social workers and philanthropists as were present when the first session was opened to order. Delegates from scores of cities and towns were present and the assembly was made up of earnest practical men and women who are devoting time and energy to the uplifting of the morals of the American people.

White Slave Traffic the Topic.

B. S. Steadwell of La Crosse, Wis., president of the federation, presided at today's session, as he will throughout the meeting. After a song and invocation, Mr. Steadwell delivered his address. He then announced that the special topic for the day was the white slave traffic, and introduced first William Alexander Coots, secretary of the National Bureau for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic, of London, England. Mr. Coots read a paper telling of the methods adopted in England to end the odious traffic and of their success.

Rev. Ernest A. Ball of Chicago, secretary of the Illinois Vigilance association, spoke on "The Primacy of Prayer and Preaching in the Purity Reform," and various phases of the President B. S. Steadwell, white slave traffic were discussed by J. L. Hamory, superintendent of the department of public safety, Des Moines, Ia.; Mrs. M. A. T. Mackenzie, superintendent of welfare work at the Seattle exposition; James H. Patton, secretary of the Immigration Restriction league, Boston; Miss Lucy A. Hall, Chicago, and Mrs. Sarah P. Bond, police matron, Oklahoma City, Okla.

This evening the delegates will be formally welcomed to the city by J. J. Sorley, whose address will be responded to by Secretary Julia E. Morrow of Spokane and Treasurer Charles A. Mitchell of Cherokee, Okla. The other speakers of the evening are Bishop Henry Spellmeyer of St. Louis, Mrs. James M. Ferguson of New Orleans and Clifford G. Roe of Chicago.

Among the well-known men and women on the program for tomorrow and Thursday are Rabbi Tobias Schanfarber of Chicago, Rev. Father Peter J. Shoner of Toronto, Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of Chicago; A. W. Bolds of Superior, Wis.; Mrs. Della Thompson Lutes of New York, and many others. Business sessions of the federation will be held daily, and the congress will adjourn Thursday night.

President George B. Warner is in the chair and among the speakers are Rev. Will J. Erwood, Dr. B. F. Austin, Rev. G. Tabor Thompson, Mrs. Helen L. P. Rousseau and Miss Elizabeth Harlow. Many Die of Plague.

Amoy, China, Oct. 19.—It is officially reported that there were 77 deaths from the bubonic plague and 64 fatal cases of cholera in Amoy during the last two weeks.

Some advertising is done with other objects in view, but in most cases nowadays every dollar spent in advertising is expected to come back, sooner or later, bringing many others with it.

ASKS RECOGNITION FOR REBELS IN NICARAGUA

Washington, However, Will for Present Maintain Attitude of Neutral Spectator.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Officials of the state department are watching with keen interest the progress of the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua, but refuse to discuss the situation, and present an attitude of diplomatically correct neutrality. It is well understood, however, that the Estrada movement against the Zelaya government has the sympathy of this government.

Those familiar with the government records regarding Central American affairs, with the monopolies by which, it is alleged, President Zelaya has for years crippled the commerce of his country; with the intrigues which have kept all Central America in a ferment and practically stifled republican institutions in Nicaragua, and with Zelaya's many evasions of light regard for the Washington conventions, could not but assume that both foreign governments and foreign public opinion would welcome any change in Nicaragua. This would be especially true, it was said by persons familiar with conditions, if the movement for a change were headed by a man like Juan J. Estrada, who has a reputation here crediting him with qualities of justice and character.

WRECK HOME; SHOOT MAN.

Vandalism Farmer Wounds Husband He Is Alleged to Have Wronged.

Vandalia, Ill., Oct. 19.—As a result of a long-standing feud between James Lockwood and Curtis Tinker, farmers, caused, it is alleged by the alienation of the affections of Tinker's wife by Lockwood, the latter went to Tinker's house and renewed the trouble. He shot Tinker twice with a revolver, one ball taking effect in the abdomen and the other in the right arm. Tinker is probably fatally wounded. Lockwood came to town and surrendered to the officers.

Much-Wanted Forger Arrested.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 19.—Benjamin Roberts, alias Boone, wanted in a half dozen Illinois cities for forgery, aggregating more than $3,000, was arrested here. The latest charges were made by banks at Heyworth and Le Roy in McLean county, where small checks are alleged to have been forged at various times.

Train Wrecking Charged.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 19.—A Polisher named Joe, now serving a sentence of 30 days for vagrancy in the Steuben county jail, will be held on a charge of trying to wreck two of the Lackawanna railroad's finest trains at Savona, Steuben county, on September 21.

ROOSEVELT HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Saves Life by Tree When Infuriated Elephant Charges.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Oct. 19.—Mr. Roosevelt, a government engineer in the public works department at Nyroli, came into Nairobi and brought word that Mr. Roosevelt had a very narrow escape when shooting his first elephant bull. When shooting elephant it is often necessary to creep into the herd and shoot the selected bull at a range of 15 to 20 yards. Mr. Roosevelt, accompanied by Mr. Cunningham, the big-game hunter and guide, followed this procedure, and killed his elephant at the second shot. Suddenly, before Mr. Roosevelt could reload, another elephant bull charged him at close range from the herd. Both Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Roosevelt got behind trees, and Mr. Cunningham fired and turned the bull from Mr. Roosevelt just in time.

Illinois Mayors in Convention.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 19.—The Illinois Mayors' association met here today for its annual three days' convention with a large attendance. Mayor McDonald of Decatur, president of the organization, presided. It is expected that before adjournment the association will have snapped out a campaign for the passage of an act enabling Illinois municipalities to adopt the commission form of government. One of the principal speakers on the program is ex-Mayor John McVicar of Des Moines, Ia., a leader in the movement that gave that city the commission government. Another speaker will be Gen. Carlos Garcia, the minister from Cuba.

Illinois Federation of Labor.

Bellefonte, Ill., Oct. 19.—The annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor was called to order here today. Delegates are present representing every central labor body in the state and hundreds of local unions. The examination of these delegates to see that they were only union labor garments was an interesting feature of the day's doings, for this year the women are subjected to as close scrutiny as the men.

Advertising Is Business Insurance.

Once upon a time—and this is no fairy tale—a seeker after more business refused to pick up business that was possible to get by advertising. A traveler came along who saw the possibilities and said: "Lo! here is my opportunity," and in a short time he annexed the business. You may not see any moral in this, but the cold fact remains: The advertiser got the business.

The value of advertising is not to be measured only by the direct returns from advertisements. Honest, continuous advertising and making good on promises helps to create for advertisers good will—an asset of incalculable but very real value.

"GIPSY" SMITH HEADS PARADE

20,000 Christians March Through Chicago's Tenderloin District.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Arm in arm with a man whose ragged clothes and reeking breath told his story, Gipsy Smith, the Roman evangelist, last night led a parade of more than 20,000 Christians through the heart of Chicago's South side tenderloin.

It was the most remarkable religious demonstration ever witnessed in Chicago. In addition to the 20,000 in the parade, 50,000 crowded the sidewalks and streets along the line of march. Thousands of curious persons hung on the edges of the parade as it wound its way north on State street, blocking street car traffic for two hours.

At the head of the procession the clear tenor voice of Gipsy Smith started hymn after hymn. The chorus of ministers directly behind, taking up the refrain, sent it on back along the line until every marcher was singing. Strangely the hymns sounded through the streets so accustomed to songs of drunkenness and revelry, strangely the words reverberated back and forth between the black walls of the buildings where vice and debauchery reigned.

Throughout the district proper the front entrances to most of the resorts had been closed in compliance with instructions issued yesterday by Chief of Police Stewart. Windows were dark and blinds were drawn.

Business in these places was at a standstill. Scarcely a man or woman could be found within doors. At the coming of the gipsy and his parade heralded in advance, there had been a general outpouring of the inmates and the streets were filled with men whose painted and powdered faces and gaudy finery made them conspicuous in the multitude.

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 19.—Judge K. M. Landis, presiding here in United States circuit, fined John Fowler of Rockford one cent on a plea of guilty. Fowler had sent an obscene letter to his brother-in-law. He explained to the judge that he was ignorant of the postal laws. His brother-in-law had unasked members of his family and a their suggestion the letter was written.

UNLAWFUL RATES ARE CHARGED

Complaint Against Railroads Is Filed with Inter-State Commission.

Washington, Oct. 19.—A complaint of far-reaching consequence was filed with the interstate commerce commission, involving the reasonableness and lawfulness of rates now charged by the railroads in the southwestern part of the country on shipments destined to interior middle western points.

A meeting of important shipping interests of the country will be held in Cincinnati tonight to consider the prospective action of the railways in the eastern part of the country in increasing freight rates in the territory east of the Mississippi river. No determination has been reached as yet by the railroads to increase the rates, but the question is under advisement and the advance will be made, probably in the near future, if the conditions, in the judgment of railway officials justify it.

Killed by Flat Blow.

IS ONE THE VICTIM OF MATCHMAKING LINE OF CHICAGO "400"

Countess Eulalia, nee M. John D. Stetson, Chicago, Ill.—There is an organized match-making ring in Chicago society. When the time comes I will alleged ante-nuptial agreement with the dashing Count Santa Eulalia have astonished Chicago society leaders. She insists she arranged the count's match with Mrs. John D. Stetson, millionaire widow of the famous hat manufacturer, even going to the extreme of writing him love letters for him.

"I have been accustomed," said Mrs. Ernst, "to associate with people of the highest type of heart and mind culture. But besides these I have had my charity patients." Count Eulalia was one of the latter.

"When he first came to see me he was ignorant, but was so confident and seemed so sincere that I pitied him and made him my protégé."

He was not a count when he was first introduced to Chicago society. He was moral, but oh, so stupid. He talked with me as a child would talk to its mother and he confined to me the fact that his family desired him to marry a wealthy woman.

"Once I had a beautiful young heiress selected for him, but he disgusted me so with some of his stupid actions that I concluded it would be a shame for her to waste her life on him. I decided that an older woman would do."

"The count knew that Mrs. Stetson was his superior, but that didn't make any difference. She was fabulously rich."

"At first the count did not progress rapidly with his courtship because of his personal faults, but he made good headway by the correspondence route, because I wrote every love letter Mrs. Stetson ever received from him. I framed the proposal of marriage and argued away every objection she offered. It was a hard two years' work, but I was successful."

"Mrs. Stetson had made a personal investigation by which she gained a suspicion that the count's title was not all it should be and she insisted on a clear title to the title, so to speak. That required some generalship on my part. Both the count and countess Eulalia deny the charges and claim it is an attempt at blackmail."

Wiping Out Mosquitoes.
The war against mosquitoes in Greater New York and Jersey has proved an eye-opening, heart-felt, surprising success. There are places in Greater New York where three years ago a herd of cattle would stampede in terror from mosquitoes, where cows had to be milked in a cloud of daisy, burning straw, where the pests would settle and form a gray film over the stomachs of poor old horses, where these pests were so thick as to trouble a hunter seeing the sights along his gun barrel. To-day in some of those very same places there are not only few, but no mosquitoes, a blessing in comfort and real estate values that is simply unspeakable.—New York Press.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

NOTHING succeeds, they say, like success.

And I think it's equally true that nothing fails like failure.

I once saw a tennis tournament in which a player who was rather out of the ordinary class took part. While he was playing with the inferior players he did very brilliant work. Then he met a man who was nearer his own class. The score went against him.

He lost several games and then a set. And then to our amazement, instead of playing harder, excepting himself to retrieve the ground he had lost, he began to weaken. His play became less brilliant, less powerful, more erratic and uncertain. It was evident that he was "up in the air," that he had lost his nerve. He also lost the set and the tournament.

Do you know it's very often that way in life?

The man who finds that he is succeeding goes on triumphantly and easily. He seems to get power from his successes. Their momentum is behind them. He works harder than he ever did before and goes ahead faster.

But the man who has made two or three mistakes, who sees that the score is against him, is far too apt, when he should be fighting the hardest, to begin to weaken, to be less determined, to say "what's the use, I can't win now anyway." And then, of course—he doesn't.

That's not all. There is another kind—thank goodness. It's the man who finds failure a tonic, who never fights so hard as when he is the nearest to being beaten, who never allows himself to doubt his ultimate success, who always says unflinchingly:

"When I meet my Waterloo I mean to be Wellington."

That's the kind of a man I like and the kind the world, however hard, who may buffet him at first, is pretty apt to like in the end.

Once I saw eleven men of that kind at one time. It was at the Harvard and Yale football game. Harvard was winning. Her team swept forward gloriously in its success. It pushed Yale back, back, back to the five-yard line.

The Harvard section was on its feet, whistling, tooting, stamping, cheering its enthusiasm.

Ten thousand people were singing, "Against the line of Crimson Yale can't prevail."

It seemed as if the very enthusiasm must sweep Harvard right over the line for a touchdown.

But it didn't.

For right on the raw edge of failure that Yale eleven stiffened up.

Right in the face of defeat they began to play as great a game of football as was ever played in that stadium.

Right on the five-yard line they turned the tide.

Do you belong to the "most men" who weaken when the fight goes against them?

Or are you of the bigger sort that stiffens on the five-yard line?

Three cheers for you if you are the latter.

Ruth Cameron

ALL ABOUT THE HOUSE

The housekeeper who has been prevented by the many things that interfere with her shelves with the grapes and pears canning fruits still has a chance to fill her shelves with the grapes and pears that are in the market all late in the month. If there seems a dearth of variety let her slip the common blue grapes from the vines. Of the skins she can make jam by the ordinary process, though if she will boil the skins in water until tender before adding the sugar she will improve the quality of the jam. It will be rich and of fine flavor.

The "little different" charm that all jam makers like. Of the green pulp she can make either jelly or jam; if the latter they must be boiled till soft and put through a sieve to take out the seeds. It will be of a clear golden brown and have a delicious flavor. Spiced grapes are always a pleasant change and ginger pears are as fine as preserved ginger to those who like the flavor.

The garden should be raked and all leaves buried under thin layers of dirt to make leaf mold for another year's flower beds. If there is a bed that is particularly in need of enrichment dig deeply and bury the leaves in thin layers with plenty of dirt between and there will be need for only a small addition of fertilizer next year to have to produce as well as any other.

Bulbs should be planted for spring flowering as well as for home blossoming. Be sure to place them on a layer of sand to prevent rot, and keep in a dark place for several weeks so that strong roots may form first. An easy way to dispose of them for six weeks is to bury the pots in earth and leave them undisturbed till you desire to force the blossoms.

When a student begins to break down from lack of the right kind of food, there are only two things to do; either take him out of school or feed him properly on food that will rebuild the brain and nerve cells. That food is Grape-Nuts.

A boy writes from Jamestown, N. Y., saying, "A short time ago I got into a bad condition from over-study, but Mother having heard about Grape-Nuts food began to feed me on it. It satisfied my hunger better than any other food, and the results were marvelous. I got fleshy like a good fellow. My usual morning headaches disappeared, and I found I could study for a long period without fatigue."

My face was pale and thin, but is now rosy and has considerable color. After I had been using Grape-Nuts for about two months I felt like a new boy altogether. I have gained greatly in strength as well as flesh, and it is a pleasure to study now that I am not bothered with my head. I passed all my examinations with a reasonably good percentage, extra good in some of them, and it is a Grape-Nuts that has saved me from a year's delay in entering college."

Father and mother have both been improved by the use of Grape-Nuts. Mother was troubled with sleepless nights, and not very thin, and looked careworn. She has regained her normal strength, sleeps well nights and looks well."

Autumn Party of Telephone Girls

Young Ladies of Rock County Line Hostesses at Dance at Assembly Hall Last Evening.

Gaiety and pleasure were the keynote of the entertainment given by the young ladies of the Rock County Telephone company at Assembly hall last night. It was an autumn dancing party given by ten of the operators and was one of the most pleasant of the season.

To the inspiration of two hundred couples of invited guests spent the hours from nine until one o'clock in dancing. Waltzes and two-steps predominated in the program.

One of the delightful features of the affair was the tasty and pretty arrangements of the hall. Autumn leaves, tall corn-stalks, and large yellow pumpkins fashioned into Jack-o'-lanterns, were used. The orchestra was almost screened from view by the array of corn-stalks and Jack-o'-lanterns placed along the front of the orchestra stand spelled the word, "HELLO." Electric light bulbs took the places of candles in the lanterns and served to partially light the hall during the moonlight dances.

The hostesses at the entertainment were Florence Gregory, Agnes Elliot, Helen McCarthy, Lou Stoddard, Florence Smith, Jessie Dudley, Anna Kelly, Kathryn McCarthy, Jessie Porter and Agnes Corneau.

In the Presence of a Few Friends and Relatives, Muriel Mills Becomes Bride of Kenneth Walley.

At Trinity church, Sunday afternoon, Miss Muriel Mills, daughter of William Mills of Chatham street, was united in marriage to Kenneth Walley of Chicago. Rev. Henry Willman officiated. Only the families and a few of the immediate friends of the contracting parties were in attendance. After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Walley will make their home in Chicago where the groom is engaged in the electrical business.

CAN OPENER THAT IS SIMPLE.

Every Housewife Would Welcome One That Can Be Used Without Fear of Cutting.

Every housewife would undoubtedly welcome the invention of a ready, simple and substantial can opener, one that she could operate without danger of cutting her hands. Simplicity and efficiency seem to be the keynote of the one shown in the illustration below, designed and invented by a Detroit man. In opening a can by a Detroit man. In opening a can by a Detroit man. In opening a can by a Detroit man.

parallel with the top of the can. The cutter is then regulated on the toothed bar so that it will cut either the top of the can or the side. With a firm pull on the handle the tin can is easily severed. It will be noticed that there are practically two cutters, one for cutting the top of the can and another for cutting the side of the can. This will be found convenient when it is desired to remove the contents without disarranging them.

TRANSVERSE WAGON SPRING.

When Side Springs Are Sufficiently Depressed They Come Into Useful Action.

In addition to the ordinary side springs which support the body, a heavy wagon is usually fitted with a transverse spring which is not fixed to the axle but rests one inch or 1½ inches above it. The reason of this is that when the wagon is running empty or with a light load the ordinary springs are sufficient, but when it is fully loaded, and the side springs are sufficiently depressed, the transverse spring comes into action and helps to bear the weight and strain.

To Raise Level of Lake Erie.

It is understood that a majority of the Canadian and American commissioners of the international waterways commission will recommend that a dam be built on the Niagara river, opposite Buffalo and Ft. Erie, for the purpose of raising the level of Lake Erie. In the autumn of every year there is a fall of about two feet in the level of the lake. This reduction of available navigation depth seriously affects the shipping interests, and with the increase in the size of vessels it is becoming a menace to navigation. The estimated cost of the dam is about $5,000,000.

Excusable Recklessness.

"It's really provoking," said the fond mother, "baby always cries when we have company." "Well," answered Mr. Groucher, "you can't blame children for blabbing company. If it weren't for visitors they wouldn't have to recite or play pieces on the piano."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, October 19, 1869.—Complimentary Banquet To Gen. Ruger.—General Howard Ruger, now in this city, will be the subject of a complimentary banquet at the Myers House on Monday evening next. The General has acquitted himself with distinguished honor in the various positions of responsibility in which he has been placed, and his fellow citizens desire thus publicly to recognize their appreciation of him as a man and public officer. The committees are now at work perfecting the necessary arrangements for the entertainment.

Dedication and Ordination.—The dedication of the new Congregational church takes place on Thursday afternoon next, Dr. Whiting, in the evening. The occasion will be one of great interest and will be for it will mark an era in the history of this society. It then takes possession of one of the finest houses of worship in the state, and there opens before it from that date, an opportunity for increased usefulness. The services of both afternoon and evening will be fully attended.

Suicide.—Plummer Turner, who lives with his brother, Joseph Turner, about a mile and a half from Footville, committed suicide last night by shooting himself. At the time of the occurrence the family were asleep, and were awakened by a loud noise which they did not distinguish as the sound of firearms. Upon opening the door to ascertain the cause of the disturbance, the body of the suicide fell outward. He had placed the muzzle of the gun against his breast and pulled the trigger with his toes. The charge entered his heart, tearing out that organ and a portion of his lungs. He was a deaf mute 45 years of age. No cause for the deed can be assigned but low spirits. The verdict of a coroner's jury was rendered in accordance with the facts above.

Jettings.—A large deposit of black lead has been discovered in the side of the mound known as Black Hawk's hill in this county. The brick for the outside of the Baptist church is arriving. In course of time our Baptist brethren will rejoice in a cream colored coat of brick that cannot be surpassed in beauty. No less than fourteen democratic papers have been started in this city. How many more wrecks will strew the Janesville beach.

YOUR FAMILY!

Almost every man with a family has an intense desire to own a farm. He wants a place where his children can grow up strong and vigorous. He wants to be home near them during the day. And he wants to know that he is building a bank account for them in later years. Isn't that your case?

Right here in the very heart of Wisconsin is a mighty tract of half a million acres now thrown on the market at $6 to $20 an acre. Nearly by land with the same soil and climate is selling for $100 to $150 an acre. And this land must increase to those amounts soon.

Ten Years to Pay

You can own one of these splendid farms by paying one-third down and the remainder within ten years. But while you are paying, the crops will be growing and values increasing.

One man bought some of the $15 land, and after clearing and cultivating it he sold out for $50 an acre and reinvested the profits in more land. He is already a man of wealth and power.

You can buy an eighty-acre farm for $400 by selecting good $15-an-acre land and paying $5 an acre in cash. Figure the profits when you have got it cleared and under full cultivation.

Write for Free Book

We cannot hope to explain all about this land in an ad of this size, but we do ask that you send for our booklet—it's FREE.

It tells you about the soil, climate, roads, schools, churches, telephones, and the kinds of crops raised, with their average prices. Send for the book today—it costs nothing but a postal or letter.

PAID IN FULL

Novelized From Eugene Walter's
Great Play

EUGENE WALTER,
Author of "Paid in Full" and "The Easiest Way"

That "Paid in Full" is a story of absorbing interest has been proved by its phenomenal success in dramatic form. For two seasons there has been no diminution in the drawing power of this vital piece of realism. In its present form it is not less engrossing. The features which made it so powerful as a play are not less potent in the serial. It is the same keen exposition of human motives put into the simplest forms of expression. There is no waste of material, no attempt to moralize, no break in the continuity. The three men who are the central figures in the story stand out in admirable distinctness from the very first, and the one woman whose splendid rectitude illuminates it all lives from the moment of her appearance. Although it is certain to produce frequent thrills, the story is neither melodramatic nor sensational. Its power lies in its humanness.

CHAPTER I.

"No! I'll not give you a raise of 5 cents an hour nor of a cent an hour; nay a raise, understand. And I don't want you to come here thinking you can bulldoze me, because you'll find mighty quick you're mistaken. If any man thinks he can do that I want to see him."

The words, uttered in a wrathful hollow, came through the closed door of the president's room and were heard by every employee and visitor to the main office of the Latin-American Steamship company, which occupied an entire floor of a big building in Bowling Green, New York city.

Some of the employees smiled and passed the remark that the boss "had 'em bad" that day, but the smiles were of the wily, apprehensive order, for the fact that he was in execrable humor was perfectly well known to each and all, having been impressed upon them very forcibly at intervals from the minute the great man had made his appearance with his unvarying punctuality as the clock struck 9 a. m. Others scowled and kept their reflections to themselves.

The voices of the other parties to the conversation were not audible to the listeners, but that of the president, with its all penetrating roar, burst forth again:

"I don't give a tin whistle what you or your unions do, understand. Let 'em strike, strike and be d—d. But you tell 'em this from me—that any man who's fool enough to throw up his job does so for good and all. He'll never work again for the Latin-American Steamship company in this or any other port. I'll take care of that. I'll show 'em who and what I am if they don't know."

The door opened, and two white-faced, intimidated men emerged, cap in hand. They were rough looking men, evidently laborers injured to the hardest kind of work. They shuffled quickly past the neatly dressed clerks and did not breathe freely until they found themselves in the cross stream of hurrying passersby on the street. There, as they mopped their brows and looked around for a saloon, something of the arrogant insolence with which they had demanded audience of the head of the company and which had been speedily cowed out of them by that formidable and choleric personage returned to them.

Meanwhile at the open door of the room in which they had been through the ordeal of their interview Captain Amos Williams, president and general manager of the line, glared after his departing visitors and round the office. There was dead silence, and every employee, from the highest to the office boys, impudent and irresponsible there, as everywhere else, save when Captain Williams was nigh, became deeply engrossed in his work.

"Call up Mr. Smith and tell him I want to see him at once," he growled to no one in particular. Then he re-entered his room and slammed the door.

In a few minutes, however, his bell rang, and, a boy responded to it with an alacrity not customary in any other office in all New York.

"Tell Mr. Brooks to come here," was the order he received.

The boy hurried out and approached one of the men behind the brass lattice screens.

"Mr. Brooks, the captain wants you," he announced.

Mr. Brooks did not reply, but he got down leisurely and with bad grace from his stool and moved with equal alacrity to the president's room.

"Brooks, has Fernandez & Co., that Pernambuco firm, been heard from yet?" demanded his employer.

"Check came today," was the laconic reply.

"Full amount?"

"Twice over that!" sighed Jenkins. "But there is yet hope. Our Joseph hath received a call to uplift the downtrodden."

"How did he get it? What is his record?" went on Brooks, ignoring the interruption. "Why, he started out as a sealer or a south Pacific trader, which in those days was the same as being a pirate, and you know and I know that his name was a terror to sailors from San Francisco to Australia. He made his first money by bullying and in treating other men and killing them, too, on occasion. It's a matter of common knowledge. And he's been a buccaner ever since. Didn't he bullock and scumming his father-in-law out of control of this company? And what has he done since then but act the brutal tyrant over everybody connected with it, bending us down to the lowest wage a man can exist on that he may add to his dirty heap, running this office with fist, boot and rope and as though it were his lawless ship and we were his groveling Lascar crew. I hope the longshoremen do strike! They would be doing humanity a service if they'd all him full of bullets."

"There's a lot of truth in what Brooks says," assented a youthful clerk in low tones, looking around cautiously as he did so.

"Well, after all, I don't see that you've got such a fierce kick coming," observed Jenkins to the disgruntled orator.

"You don't, eh?" sneered Brooks. "You think $20 a week is big pay for an accountant and collector who's handled half the money of the line for five years, eh?"

"No! I mean that you are at least solid with the boss and sure of your job, which is more than anybody else here is, and that you stand to become an officer high up in the company one of these days. Williams is a friend of your family, isn't he? You yourself have boasted often that he visits you and your wife."

"That's just it. The swine takes advantage of his relations with my wife's people to keep me down and rub it in. Other people get their salary raised, but I don't. Do you call that a square deal?"

"It hardly seems so, but perhaps there's a reason. He may have some object that will appear in due course, and you'll go up several numbers at one sweep. In the meantime," continued Jenkins, lowering his voice, "I wouldn't let on like you have this afternoon if I were you, Joe. It can't do any good and might do you a deal of harm. You don't know who might hear you, and the boss somehow knows everything that goes on in the office."

"I don't care," affirmed Brooks sulkily. "I'll just as lief tell him to his face what I think of him, and by gum, I will one of these days, darn him!"

"All right," laughed Jenkins. "I hope I'll be around at the time so that I can perform for you the last sad rite of gathering up your scattered remnants. Ah, here's Jimmy Smith!"

Hay's Hair Health

"I hope the longshoremen do strike!" you sweating blood to any extent under the grinding process."

"Jenkins, you're a camel," retorted Brooks. "For a wisp of hay you'd let yourself be loaded till the last straw broke your back, and then you'd kick the hand that crushed you."

"Sure," said Jenkins enthusiastically. "Anybody can load me up that wants to."

"And I'll back his liquid capacity to equal that of any camel," chimed in another clerk, while every one within earshot grinned.

"Oh, you can laugh," grumbled Brooks, "but it doesn't alter the truth of what I say. It's men like him that have made our society today what it is, a soulless, heartless, oppressive civilization in which Crocoduses walk roughshod over the men who are down and thrust them deeper into the slough with one foot as they climb higher and higher to the power that the possession of inconceivable wealth carries with it."

Spectacular Fire.

Bird Song.
Bird-song is discussed by Dr. D. Hoffmann in a new work with the formidable German title of "Kunst und Vogelsang in ihren wissenschaftlichen Beziehungen von naturwissenschaftlichen Standpunkte beleuchtet." While the author shows that the great majority of singing birds do not use the intervals of our musical scale, he claims that a few occasionally do so. Dr. Hoffmann finds rhythm in the song of the quail, great tit, wood-pigeon and song-thrush.

How Men Are Disturbed.
Men are disturbed not by things which happen, but by the opinions which they form about the things; for it is nothing terrible, for if it were it would have seemed so to Socrates; for the opinion about death that it is terrible, is the terrible thing. When then we are impeded, or disturbed, or grieved, let us never blame others, but ourselves—that is, our opinions. It is the act of an ill-instructed man to blame others for his own bad condition.—Aristotle (35 A. D. 180 A. D.)
